Published by the Students of Grimsley Senior High School
Greensboro, North Carolina

Mr. Philip Weaver, Superintendent of Greensboro Schools, embodies what is dynamic and different and moving. With enthusiasm and youthful determination he approaches each new demand, thus inspiring all who work under him. He is alert to people's problems, eager to help in their solution. His loyalties are constant, his interests broad, his abilities diverse.

Mr. Weaver is a staunch supporter of Grimsley's programs and a loyal Whirlie fan — an interest that is not merely routine, for his son is a GHS graduate. Mr. Weaver is a many-faceted individual who can teach us much about dedication to an ideal — the ideal of truly progressive education for the youth of Greensboro. And so, with admiration and with gratitude, we dedicate this 1966 WHIRLIGIG to

MR. PHILIP JOHNSON WEAVER.

Foreword

Yelling boisterously at a sports event, or cramming hard for a difficult exam — socializing at break, or tutoring a confused fellow student — bolting for the parking lot at 3:30 or wading through College Boards — creating a useful object in shop, or reciting a French dialogue correctly — selling Easter Seals on a street corner, or dissecting a frog — practicing first aid, or baking a prize cake — our surging, swinging, studying student body stays constantly on the move.

COMPLEXITY of campus life is unsnarled for sophomores by their upperclassmen "buddies." Many opening-day hazards are thus averted.

In late summer an effervescent mass of individuals converges upon the vacation-quiet campus of Grimsley. This student body is led by authoritative seniors, flaunting their new positions as school leaders. Confident juniors quickly master the art of sophomore-needling, while the newest members of our group characterized by eagerness to merge smoothly into their new environment, soon become familiar with buildings, teachers, and the same old jokes.

Opening days at GHS are a hectic alloy of registration and reviving old friendships

MYSTERIES of GHS are graphically explained to new students in Civitan handbooks, which answer almost every possible sophomore query.

ONE REWARD for a tedious wait in line on Registration Day is being admitted to a favorite class.

HUBBUB of homerooms subsides—but briefly—during the inevitable morning announcements. It is only after these informative messages that a day at Grimsley officially begins.

FREQUENT practice before a critical but appreciative class produces poised and able speakers.

Pondering English in its infinite variety –literary classics, fundamental grammar, basics of forceful speech and writing–we develop an understanding of our language

WITH EXPERT help from teacher, books, and devices in a reading laboratory, many students increase both speed and comprehension.

Many varying courses in the general field of English are offered at GHS. Imaginative students may embark upon a semester of creative writing or an intensive study of Shakespeare. Participants in speech and dramatics classes develop persuasive oratorical or acting abilities. Fundamental English courses seek to improve our basic understanding of the English language. The glories of King Arthur's Court are disclosed to theme-writing sophomores. Juniors follow the development of American literature, and autobiographical seniors retrace the footsteps of Chaucer's Canterbury pilgrams.

PLENTIFUL resources and quiet surroundings contribute greatly to a student's success in library research.

DIAGRAMS are simple but graphic aids to clarify sentence structure.

Both audio and visual aids facilitate our earnest study of foreign cultures and languages

TO VISUALIZE a country's terrain and culture, students find all types of maps helpful.

INDUCTION ceremonies of JCL give Latin students a glimpse of ancient Roman customs, dress, and beliefs.

RECORDING one's own voice is a step toward eliminating mistakes and polishing enunciation.

HEARING taped native voices with flawless accents is a valuable aid to French or Spanish students trying to perfect their own pronunciation.

HISTORY via TV is both visible and audible. Thus relieved of teaching during the first half of each period, instructors can manage larger classes and accomplish more each semester.

A knowledge of history is broadened by wide reading, by penetrating analysis and general discussion, and by daily contact with various foreign students

VISITING students from foreign countries compare notes on each other's homeland. This year students from Japan, Belgium, Germany, and the Netherlands attended Grimsley.

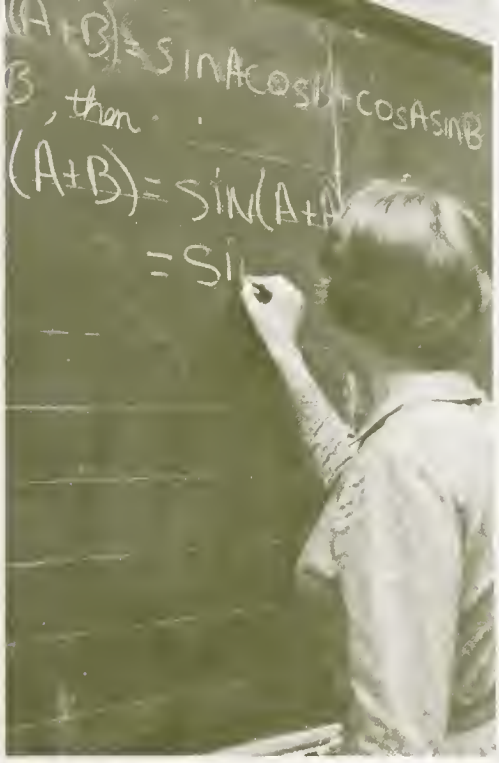
RESEARCH facilities of the library include many daily newspapers, which history classes read avidly for insight into current problems.

DISCUSSIONS of the Advanced Placement History class are animated and penetrating, despite distracting circumstances.

NO MATTER where later investigation may lead him, a student's earlier progress depends on his mastery of simple devices.

Floundering through homework problems or grasping elusive mathematical principles, we feel proud of achievement in the axiomatic world of numbers

TRANSPARENT figures are graphic devices to clarify problems in both plane and solid geometry.



TRIGONOMETRY students early develop the art of illustrating and explaining proofs to a class.

An orderly mind is a prerequisite for the successful mathematics student. In basic geometry class, students are confronted with axioms and proofs, while algebra scholars plot graphs and conquer word problems. The complicated principles and strange symbols characteristic of trigonometry, college algebra, and physics challenge even the superior GHS pupils.

COMPLETING a precise graph correctly is made more difficult by the awareness of many other watchful eyes in an algebra class.

Calculating and probing, we verify axioms of our complex scientific world

CHEMISTRY students, by watching a burning element through a spectroscope, determine important properties of the substance.

OBLIGING frogs bare their secrets to prying biologists.

LIGHT refraction fascinates physics students as they delve into a study of optics.

ADVANCED biology students learn to identify variety and species as they probe further into the structure and peculiarities of plants.

MINUTE details of mosses are exciting when seen for the first time through a microscope.

PRECISION and coordination necessary to succeed make typing a demanding course.

Diversified courses –from manual training to elementary child psychology– prepare us well in practical ways for varied futures

REFLECTING their Christmas spirit, home economics students fashion imaginative Yuletide decorations.

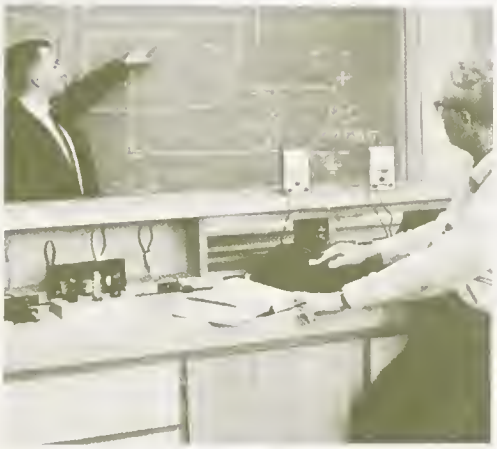
WHIMS AND FANCIES of young minds are explored through actual experience with children in Grimsley's own kindergarten and Child Development program.

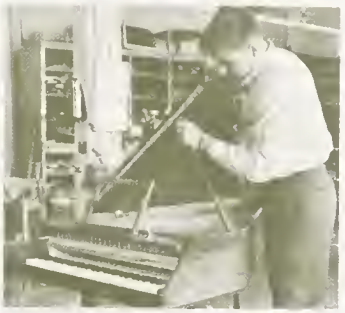
Preparation for the future is stressed in many subjects taught at GHS. Manual skills such as typing are useful in an unlimited number of situations. The ability to sew can be profitable and helpful to a dedicated homemaker. Parents of tomorrow may explore the fascinating facets of a child's mind through a comprehensive course in Child Development.

GHS CURRICULUM retains a strong emphasis on physical — as well as mental — prowess.

LEARNING TO DRIVE, all-important ambition of most sophomores, leads many into classes that develop proper attitudes as well as skills.

Rigorous mental and physical training develop the abilities necessary for present and future health and well-being





TRAINING and experience produce both creative and practical craftsmanship. GHS offers expert leadership in fields of drafting, woodworking, electronics, and machines.

THAT THOROUGH training enhances innate ability is evident to listeners when vocal groups perform at a student assembly.

YEARS of exacting training pay off in excellent program accompaniment and concerts by Grimsley orchestra and band members.

DIVERSITY of interests is as evident as talent in a Grimsley art class.

Talent is revealed in diverse ways, varying from superior musical skill to proficiency in art

DEFT FINGERS turn clay into something satisfying as a young potter learns to "throw."

COUNTLESS hours of instruction and practice are required to make a polished musician.

LOYALTY to GHS is apparent in the fervent singing of our "Alma Mater," traditional end of every assembly prgram.

Tuesday assemblies provided variety and an always welcome change from the rigorous daily schedule. They meant laughter at Pep Board skits, speakers' opening ear-catchers, or antics of the Queen's Men. They meant a feeling of unity, when students pledged their allegiance to the Flag or applauded Mr. Glenn. And there were surprises, like the first Whirlie Boosters award and expressions on the faces of classmates tapped for Torchlight. Whether enthralling or amusing or even somewhat boring, assemblies were ever an appreciated facet of GHS life.

MEMORABLE productions result from strenuous hours of dedicated practice and labor. Through a magical illusion created by the "Christmas Carol" cast, the audience returns to Nineteenth Century London.

WEEKLY assembly programs treat students by turns to samples of religion, polities, drama, travel, and science.

Our didactic schedule of classes is interrupted by an hour of entertainment and enlightenment— our weekly assembly

NEW AWARD to Whirlie-Booster-of-the-Week goes for the first time to David Niekell for his loyal and vociferous support of GHS athletic events.

GHS STUDENTS may express their opinions anonymously through the suggestion box, here being opened by a member of the Student Council.

PREVIEW of democratic processes is available in student registration before elections. Those not registered may not vote.

AT A SPECIAL assembly, class officers and council representatives are installed as the official leaders of GHS.

Political ambitions and universal involvement spiral to a feverish climax during the annual delirium of GHS student elections

NEW STEPS UP to the parking lot are built by student council members for those in the biggest hurry to get on with things.

CAMPAIGNING for election takes energetic and ambitious candidates and their supporters to precarious heights.

The hilarious antics of Pep Board and the solemn moments of study and Torchlight tapping are but a few of the ways we render service to our school and classmates

ASSISTANCE in areas of scholastic weaknesses is available from able volunteers.

SOLEMN REWARD of recognized accomplishment — being chosen for Torchlight induction — is a dream come true for many students.

A grateful smile was payment for the tutor who gave his time to help another student progress. In the darkened auditorium, a surprise gasp of a Torchlight inductee revealed the delight he suddenly felt. Torchlight's annual talent show again emphasized the quality and diversity of GHS talent. YRC's open houses and the Pep Board posters boosted school spirit. Then the Pep Board's "Whirlie-Booster-of-the-Week" Award also recognized avid Whirlie fans. From tutoring, to tapping, to accelerating school spirit, interested pupils were never without ways to serve their school.

PEP RALLY enthusiasm soars as the Whirlie team is victorious again. TOP: 1965 award for most effective display in the Homecoming competition is accepted by Charioteers president.

PEP BOARD "G" painted on each Whirlie car vividly displays the ever fresh loyalty of its owner.

ROLLICKING story of Tom Sawyer lives again in the Junior play, and its success provides needed funds for the class treasury.

Each class leaves an irrevocable impression upon GHS as all endeavor to improve our school

SUPER SALESMEN peddle their blue-and-white wares to all prospective customers before each Whirlie football game. These little ribbons reflect not only student support but also swell the Senior class treasury.

TRADITIONAL as sophomores are the pencils they sell each year. They often use high-pressure techniques to secure a complete sellout.

MANY GROUPS regularly give time and effort to serve others at GHS. Student assistants, the dean, guidance counselors, librarians, squad, and marshals are only a few of many whose primary function is to keep Grimsley's affairs running efficiently.

EVENTS of special interest around GHS are advertised on the Jr. Jaycees' bulletin board.

AS THEIR WEEKLY good deed, Civinettes brighten blackboards in Grimsley's classrooms.

Working in the background or in front of the vast GHS student body, we contribute time and enthusiasm to our school and community

WITH PLENTY of wax and hard work, Jayettes keep classroom desks gleaming.

WHITE AND blue streamers fluttering from Whirlie car antennas declare our loyalties to all who see us.

AS WHIRLIES FIGHT to get the winning spirit free, Whirlibird shenanigans amuse excited spectators.

BRIGHT balloons bobbing from the victory flag pole symbolize soaring spirits as GHS teams continue to win.

Football players waiting impatiently on a bench, rhythmic whirling boots, exhilerated students –school spirit, manifested in many ways, is evident at all GHS sports events

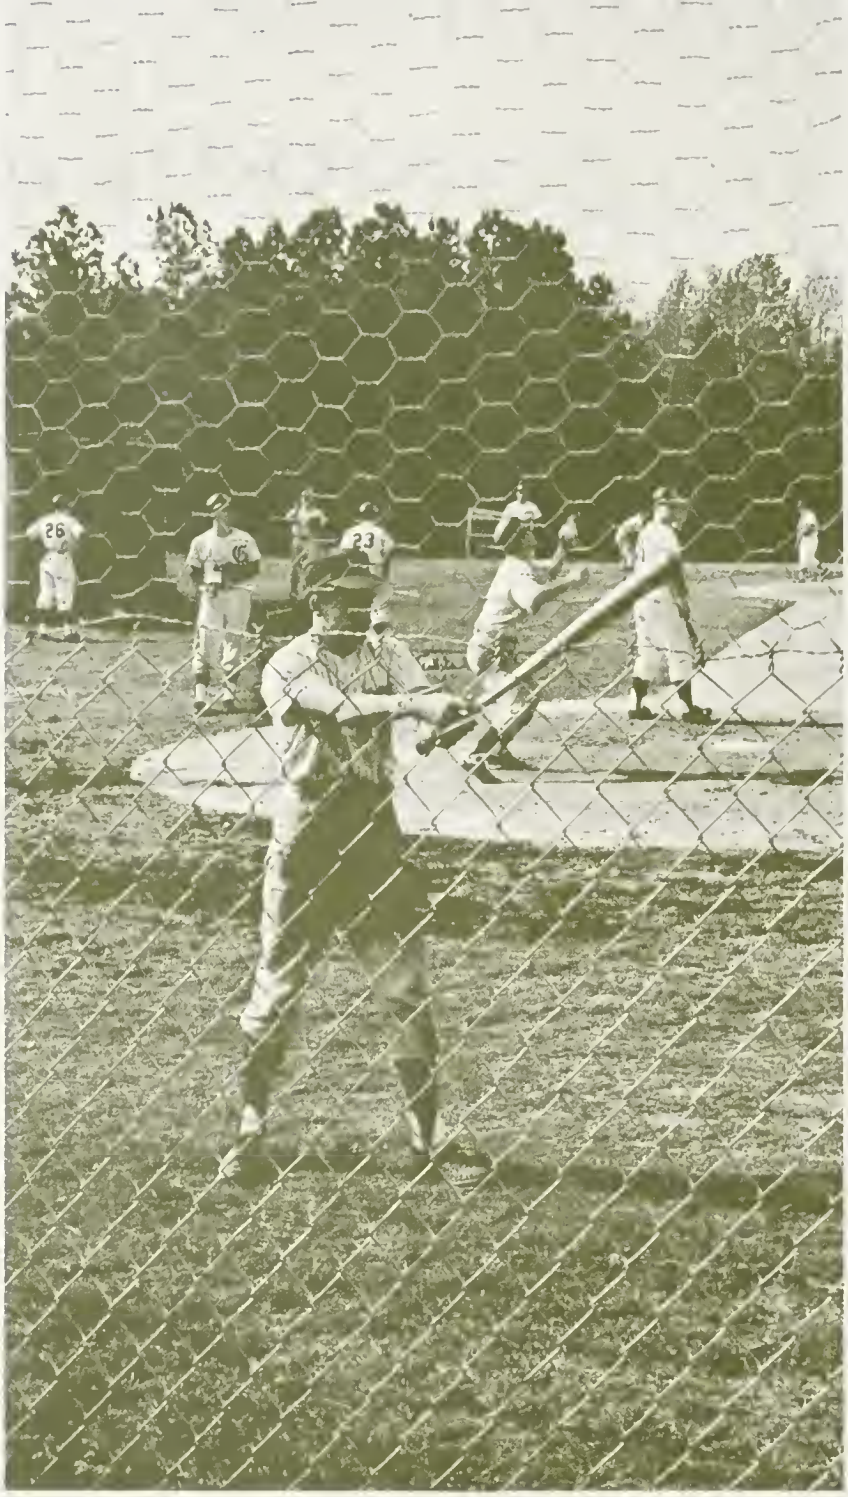
NOISY pep band percussionists pound out an infectious rhythm at Whirlie football games.

INTENSE concentration is etched on faces of grounded players (LEFT) as they study the progress of their more active team mates. Fans express noisy excitement and suspense.

EVEN BEFORE they have been organized long enough to achieve precision, Whirling Boots cavort their way into the hearts of Whirlie fans.

PRECEDING the marching band at home football games, the Color Guard lends a flamboyant flourish to each band appearance.

An exuberant student body reveals its school spirit in many ways. Enthusiasm and encouragement effervesce from the Whirlie bench at all sports events. The recently organized Whirling Boots Corps entertains us with their high-stepping, syncopated routines. Ever-loyal Whirlie fans are ecstatic in victory, persistently loyal in defeat. GHS teams are truly "Number One" — if not always in ratings, then in the hearts of their supporters.



EARLY SPRING brings the long, arduous practice for an approaching baseball season.

STUDYING a filmed record of their next opponents in action, Whirlie gridders identify that team's weaknesses and strengths in time to be on their guard.

HARRIERS keep in condition for gruelling cross-country meets by long and brisk daily workouts.

Demanding daily regimen builds conditioned athletes for Grimsley's consistently successful teams

SKILL that leads to Whirlie basketball victories is developed only through many hours of exhausting practice.

GETTING THERE first is always tremendously important, whether to lunch or away from school — and even a downpoor cannot deter a really determined evacuee.

FASHIONS, an incessantly changing facet of GHS life, are a reflection of the variety in both styles and personal tastes.

SOCIALIZING, one of the most important "courses" at GHS, is informal and relaxed.

Traditional ideas modified by capricious fancies of the times, construct patterns of activity and dress unique to our generation

A radiant Homecoming Queen is chosen from among twenty-three parading, school-spirited beauties

STUDENT president Steve Cumbie crowns Homecoming Queen DecDec Zane.

OPEN HOUSE after each home game is jammed with students celebrating a team victory or consoling each other in defeat.

1965 HOMECOMING festivities are an attractive and exciting interlude between halves of the Grimsley-Smith game on November 2.

The level of excitement and anticipation was higher than usual on the evening of November 2. On twenty-three nervous girls, colorful fall suits had replaced less festive garments; blue-and-white corsages adorned tailored lapels. At half-time, crowds remained seated to watch the Homecoming Court step through a gigantic football and listen with their escorts for an announcement of the identity of the 1965 Queen. The joyous half-time spirit continued at the Homecoming dance after the game, and Queen DeeDee Zane reigned happily.

THE UNSUNG beauty of Grimsley's classic cut-ups voluptuously climaxes our Homecoming pep rally.

SENIOR PROM offers a striking glimpse of 1965 graduates in their final social event as a class.

Rare and nostalgic formal proms and animated open houses are refreshing and treasured interludes

TO CROWDS that jam any post-game open house, Mr. Glenn's pleasant checking is like a "Welcome!"

NOSTALGIC moments are poignant as graduating seniors face imminent separation.

LISTENING raptly to a favorite "combo" occupies far more time than dancing does.

SERENE, beautifully gowned May Court and their escorts perform a stately and graceful minuet.

May Day 1965– with saucy dance hall girls, a showboat, and stately belles– is quaintly reminiscent of the old South

DANCERS CAVORT wildly, in vivid contrast to the dignified court.

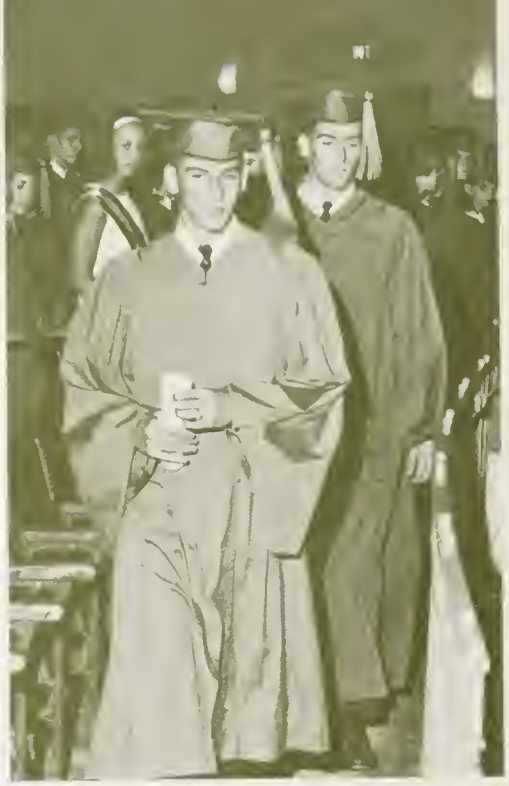
1965 MAY QUEEN Vicki Gunter, student body president David Grimes, the court and the spectators are enthralled by Nancy Rhoades' way with a song.

CAREFREE Maypole dancers, their costumes carrying out the Showboat theme, reflect a merry mood.

The frantic whirl of last-minute instructions, costuming, and make-up was confined within the walls of the green room and the auditorium. Then when the steamboat, laden with entertainers, Tom Sawyer, Huck Finn, and lovely Southern belles, appeared on the front lawn, threatening gray skies brightened with the enchantment of Magnolia Manor. Strains of "Theme from Tara," the rustle of skirts on dancing girls, the admiring murmurs and applause of spectators blended as student president David Grimes crowned Queen Vicki Gunter.

THEIR IMPUDENT dance over, frolicsome CanCan girls scamper from the scene.

SOCIABLE seniors chat informally as they wait for the faculty tea in their honor to begin.



FRUITFUL years at GHS culminate in the solemnity of graduation exercises. The ordered routine of high school days yields to the hopeful uncertainty of the future.

THE CLASS of '65 gather to view the satirical class day presented by their peers.

As the year whirls to a frenzied close, we are caught in a breathless confusion of late-spring activities and carried to a pensive climax by inevitable graduation exercises.

1965 CLASS DAY lampoons class antics, renews favorite memories. In a rollicking atmosphere, seniors reminisce about their GHS experiences. Amusing capers and surprise characters (bottom), exaggerated reminders of great moments (center), and (top) a colorful and melodious finale — all are typical moments in a nostalgic climax to three busy years.

The Grimsley Orchestra's first concert of the year was for their parents in October. After playing for this appreciative audience, they were hosts to the North Carolina Music Education Conference. Then in December they presented a Christmas program with the Choir, and in January eighteen members of the Orchestra participated in the All-State School Orchestra at Hickory. After this trip, they played an American Music Concert at Greensboro College and in March presented their big Spring Concert. Much of this program was made up of music by Mr. Richard Lane, a Ford Foundation composer who attended the performance. Hosts once more, the Grimsley Orchestra welcomed the Piedmont Orchestra Festival in May. Closely following was the Orchestra Concerto Night, a finale honoring the senior members of the group.

CELEBRATING Mr. Hazelman's birthday is sufficient excuse for food, frivolity, and a surprise gift.

Buses, chartered planes, sandy beaches, tropical winds, and dwindling funds combined to generate a plush excursion for the Symphony Band and choir. As they boarded the plane for romantic Nassau, reality melted into a dream-come-true. The band entertained Nassau audiences with such pieces as "1776," "Alleluia," and "The Sound of Music."

GHS again developed one of the top Symphony bands in the state, as five talented musicians gained coveted first chair positions in the All-State Band. In April, the Symphony Band gave its Spring concert, at which the "Moses Symphony" and "Ballad March" were presented.

WOODWINDS leave the Concert Band regularly for special practice.

Who brimmed with school spirit? The GHS Marching Band! As our gridiron stars scored touchdowns, a fast drum cadence and glad fight song could be heard for miles. During half-time, everyone thrilled to the snappy rhythm of "Tiger Rag" and "A Spoonful of Sugar." As the band played, high-stepping majorettes and prancing drum majors, the gun-carrying color guard and a student director completed the unforgettable spectacle.

The Pep Band gained fame during basketball season with its loud, harmonious rendition of GHS favorites. The new Whirling Boots drilled to rollicking Pep Band music.

The Concert Band performed with the Symphony Band at its Holiday and Spring concerts. Members of this novice band practiced diligently and played so well that they were often compared with the more experienced group.

As they strive for higher honors, three Grimsley

QUARTET of Sophomores — Waterstradt, Wilson, Mendenhall, and Nida — rehearse for an assembly program.

The three Glee Clubs sang along with GHS this year, and each vocalist kept a covetous eye on a future position in the Choir. The boys' and girls' choruses sang for many Adult Civic meetings, and provided stirring music for a patriotic assembly and for another program at Thanksgiving. The advanced girls' chorus sang the traditional "Ave Maria" for both Torchlight inductions.

Possibly the best efforts of the novice songsters were directed toward their spring assembly. With the State vocal contest pieces their most important rendition, these boys and girls worked hard, sang beautifully, and thrilled the hearts of their directors and their audiences.

July brought the GHS Choir home from Nassau. With the song of the island still in their hearts in September, they began a new school year. Their first major undertaking was a Christmas "Holiday Concert" with the Orchestra. They later thrilled local Civitan, Kiwanis, and Rotary clubs with their well-directed programs. Singing at assemblies at Grimsley and Kiser, the Choir was relieved for a few minutes while the Queen's Men rollicked through such contemporary songs as "Barbara Ann" and "Blowing in the Wind."

In February the Choir ambitiously started working towards the annual Spring Band and Choir Concert. Ballad and March which John Barnes Chance wrote several years ago and dedicated to the Grimsley Band and Choir highlighted the concert.

The Guild ushers at Greensboro Symphony concerts.

The promotion of greater appreciation of classical music was the chief goal of the Orchestra Guild. Before each concert by the Greensboro Symphony, the Guild met to make plans for their part in its promotion. They served as ushers at all Symphony concerts and could often be seen exerting their best sales techniques in selling tickets to the performances.

At their meetings they enjoyed programs concerning classical music and musicians, and heartily attended the Symphony's appearances. Although the membership in the Guild was open to any interested student, most of the members were musicians trained in either the bands or the orchestra at Grimsley. Band director Mr. Hazelman served as advisor and chief encourager.

Euterpe-Symphonia raises money for scholarship

By selling soap, Euterpe-Symphonia members raised money to award a scholarship to the Guilford Musical Arts Center. They also sold tickets to concerts held at the center. Meeting once a month, these talented musicians from all Greensboro schools entertained each other. Their year ended with a Senior recital in May. Most accomplished members were also chosen to entertain members of the adult Euterpe Club at a spring meeting.

YCCA monitors city youth activities and projects

Youth activities and opportunities have mushroomed in three years, largely through the efforts of Greensboro Youth Council on Civic Affairs. Much of its initiative and leadership has come from Grimsley students, who have continually held executive positions and major responsibilities. Initiated by the Council have been the School Beautiful contest, "Friends of the Court," Teenage Record, Youth Week, and more. GHS members, along with others, have received wide acclaim for their part in the Council's successful projects, filmed under Sears' auspices for national circulation.

FINDING COSTUMES to fit the period and actor brings headaches and amusement to veteran playmasters — Advisor Causey, Kay, and President Green.

Like actors everywhere, GHS Playmasters enjoy being noticed, so new members were far from being traumatically affected when they had to wear black masks to school one December day. The Thespian "maskers" laughed and joked through the covered-dish supper for welcoming new members, preparations for the gala productions, and all meetings.

Ellen Kay, Matt Gibson, and Taylor Green were cast in Anton Chekhov's play, "The Boor." The club sponsored this one-act comedy at the district contest at Catawba College in March and the State Drama Festival held in Chapel Hill in April. The sound of hoarse voices drifted into the hall from room 106's stage, as the three troopers rehearsed again and again the violent argument about which sex is more truthful in love. The rewards they reaped were well-deserved.

In performances at Wake Forest, at Catawba College, and at Chapel Hill, these three won Distinguished Acting awards.

CHOOSING a good play is the first step in producing one.

The entire club realized the virtues of teamwork as they produced Around the World in Eighty Days. Rehearsals, scenery painting, costume fitting, program and ticket printing, and making up the 26-member cast often became frustrating. On the night of the performance, however, those behind the footlights enjoyed the shenanigans as much as the audience did. Long applause and waves of complimentary comments from critics ensued. Truly these GHS Playmasters upheld the tradition of actors of all times: "Love thy art, no matter how poor it may seem, being not a tyrant or a slave of any man."

NEW PLAYMASTERS attract amused stares as they wear masks one day for their initiation.

MANY HOURS of research and evaluation go into preparation for each debate.

Studying governmental and union pamphlets, and combing disputable facts and figures for loopholes were habitual activities in the lives of GHS Debate Club members. They devoted considerable time to the 1966 national debate topic — "Resolved: that the Federal Government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in Labor-Management disputes involving basic industries."

Bi-monthly meetings centered around research and practice debates. All skill-building efforts were rewarded at the city "Round Robin" contest and the regional run-off debating tournament at Wake Forest College, where the seasoned debaters exhibited their quick wit and winning skill.

Spanish Honor Society ends year with cook-out

The GHS Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica gave accomplished Spanish students an opportunity to display their linguistic abilities at bimonthly gatherings. A Navidad party at Christmas and slides showing the life and culture of Spain helped transform textbook ideas into reality. After new members were initiated at the candlelight ceremony, all members joined in selling potato chips to increase the club's treasury.

The society attended a joint meeting with the Page and Smith clubs in April. May brought an entertaining club cook-out featuring Spanish dancers and singers.

Continuing in GHS tradition, the Spanish Honor Society encouraged high scholarship by presenting a twenty-five dollar savings bond to the Senior with the highest overall Spanish average.

SPANISH CLUB veterans have a chance to exercise their linguistic facility as they initiate new members.

character and scholarship among GHS students

A dark auditorium, slowly moving white-robed figures, and strains of "Ave Maria" are deeply engrained characteristics of traditional Torchlight tappings. In November and again in March this highest academic honor at GHS, respected and sought after by many, brought tears, squeals of joy, and hearty hand-shakes to the few who were selected.

Membership in Torchlight, however, was not all gratification and glory. The chapter's tutoring service, now in its second year, though arduous to organize, assisted many weak students in the area of their greatest difficulty. A late fall inspirational dinner, featuring Dr. Wilson Weldon, offered moments of serious reflection to Torchlighters. The hilarity of initiation was enjoyed by the inductees, and Torchlight's annual talent show was a financial and entertainment success. The year was climaxed by the presentation of an Honor Society scholarship to a deserving senior.

FTA Club shows sincere concern for teachers

FTA PRESIDENT welcomes former NEA President, Dr. Louis Edinger, speaker for the club's annual assembly program.

"A school, a child, a citizen, a nation — all lost for want of a teacher." With a skit expressing this thought, the Grimsley FTA club began a progressive year of varied activities. At monthly meetings the club members explored many topics, which ranged from juvenile delinquency to special education for both the mentally retarded and the academically talented student. Members proved invaluable as teacher's aides, checking pop tests, putting up creative bulletin boards, and, finally, collecting caps and gowns.

Highlights of the year included a fall FTA assembly, which featured as speaker Dr. Lois Edinger, past president of the National Education Association; the state convention held at Wake Forest College, where Anne Landsperger was nominated for state secretary; the traditional tea in April for mothers and teachers of the members; and, finally, the annual spring banquet in May.

Successful bake sales enabled members of Grimsley's Future Homemakers of America Club to finance their several school related service projects. Rest home patients in the Greensboro area were cheered by bright Christmas stockings made for them by FHA members. This organization also presented a useful gift to the Grimsley home economics department.

In May, the FHA held its annual tea to honor senior club members and the out-going school president. This social event marked the conclusion of a successful year in the FHA.

Medical Club visits Cone and Duke laboratories

The Medical Club explored many facets of medicine. Club programs concerned cancer, heart surgery, neurosurgery and leukemia, and psychology and cancer diagnosis provided subjects for informative films. Club members traveled to Cone Hospital, where they investigated methods employed there to study cancer. At the annual Medical Club Christmas Program, Dr. Thomas Hinson spoke.

Jim Alexiou and Hardin Matthews represented the club in a district meeting at Winston-Salem's Parkland High School. There they listened to discussions of medicine, pharmacy, and dentistry. Early in February club members attended the state conference in Raleigh. At this meeting the keynote concerned various health careers, and state officers were elected. In March, the Medical Club journeyed to Duke University laboratories to view the State Health Fair, a very interesting end to the club's active year.

Field trips reveal new worlds to Science Club

CLUB LEADERS Hoyer, Lowe, and Alexiou pursue their interests in the chemistry lab.

Field trips to the UNC-G science laboratories, and the radiology department of Cone Hospital stood out in an active Science Club year. Club members placed new emphasis on visiting nearby areas of scientific importance. In March, for example, representatives of the Science Club journeyed to Duke University on an unforgettable trip to the State Science Fair. Students presented programs in areas of their greatest interest, and guest speakers from such companies as Southern Bell varied the meeting agenda of the organization.

A Science Club Christmas dinner was held at the Mayfair Cafeteria, and an end-of-the-year picnic was enthusiastically received by club members and their advisors.

ADVISOR Pringle and chairman Amend make Christmas wreaths for the front doors of the main building.

For the third consecutive year, Grimsley won the city-wide school campus improvement competition in Greensboro. This feat enabled GHS to gain permanent possession of the trophy, a large silver bowl. This year the School Beautiful committee, headed by co-chairmen Mary Amend and Craig Souza, attempted to repeat the winning performance of past years. Many fall and spring workdays were held, with main emphasis upon improving the front campus. These days drew crowds of blue-jeaned workers, armed with hoes, rakes, and transistor radios. There were renovations also along Campus Drive, in the tennis courts area, and around the ungravelled grove.

Funds for School Beautiful projects were provided in part by the Grimsley PTSA. Enthusiasm for campus beautifications remained high, mainly through the efforts of service clubs, who tended individual garden plots around the campus.

Exuberant campaigning in sophomore elections, a memorable Homecoming, and a generous Thanksgiving offering bought with student donations, kept the Student Council busy in the fall. In addition, the members sent Christmas cards to American soldiers in Viet Nam, and assisted the School Beautiful campaign by renovating the GHS tennis courts.

The student government was well represented at the state-wide meetings. Tim Weikel and Steve Cumbie attended Boys' State, and Lynnie Frierson, the girls' counterpart. The council also sent delegates to the state Student Council Workshop at Mars Hill College and the state Student Council Convention at Williams High School in Burlington.

Sponsored by the council, the annual Mid-Winters dance, casualty of a late January blizzard, found fascinating success in March. Colorful May Day, with the theme "Camelot," was engineered by the active Student Council.

This year, for the first time, all interested students with a seventh period study hall were invited to visit and to participate in Council meetings. This innovation proved interesting and enlightening to many who accepted the invitation.

Youth Recreation Council initiates caravan

YRC officers — Chairman Smith, Carroll, Penfield, Powell, Fulkerson, and Thornley — prepare for another gala open house.

Blaring bands and clinking coke bottles, banging hammers and rustling crepe paper, happy squeals of excited children — these were a few of the sounds fostered by the Youth Recreation Council. Those sounds recalled other memories: open houses, always over too quickly, front lawn homecoming displays on a blustery day, the turn-about Twirp Day, a prize-winning "Christmas Card Factory," the Christmas party for under-privileged children, the crowded, busy Teenage Carnival. Also, the Council, with "School Beautiful" Committees and Pep Board, sponsored a picnic and a band for a spring workday. Yet another new idea — a student motor caravan to the GHS-Page basketball game — helped make this year outstanding for YRC.

"GHS spirit is rising" was the theme of the Pep Board Homecoming display, and this theme was repeatedly exemplified during the year by the board, under the leadership of Martha Smith. Student enthusiasm was lifted by weekly pep rallies, riotous skits in assembly, and a well-organized season-ticket sale. Spirit was evident also in big "G's" painted on student cars, blue-and-white banners and shakers, and stadium decorations for every game — all of these handled by members of the Pep Board. Avid GHS fans were recognized by the Board, who regularly presented the coveted "Whirlie-Booster-of-the-Week" award.

EDITORS Petrehn and Upchurch present an idea to advisor Mrs. Woodlief.

High Life, the GHS newspaper, was once a bi-monthly challenge for its staff — a handful of student editors, one advisor, and a network of student reporters. With the arrival of the 1965 fall semester came the biggest scoop in 45 years. High Life, in an effort to be of utmost service to GHS students and faculty members, became a weekly publication — one of the first high school weeklies in the state of North Carolina.

The staff of editors, trained by Mrs. Peggy Woodlief, faced the tremendous challenge of meeting a weekly deadline. Meeting such a deadline, one unaccomplished by any other High Life staff, meant revision of old departments, inspiration for new sections.

Peripatetic 1966 Whirligig tries to capture

BOARD OF EDITORS — Lashley, Literary Editor; Hutton, Lay-out Editor; Webster, Managing Editor; and MacFarland, Art Editor — search for the best spot from which to picture GHS.

Clacking typewriters, flipping pages, shuffling photographs, opening and slamming drawers — these were familiar sounds to the 1966 Whirligig staff. Kathy Hutton, depleting the eraser supply, cropped pictures to fit a variety of layouts — or made new layouts to fit pictures. Janine Webster sorted and typed captions and copy, trying to make them fit Kathy's layouts. Jean MacFarland penned sketches to fit strategic spots, while Susan Lashley supervised the writing in the opening pages and activities section. Joyce Robinson and Linda Sharon rode herd on staff members who went out day after day to solicit money for the new "Scholastic Appreciation Fund."

In February 1965 this new Whirligig had begun forming in minds of the staff. Ideas were discussed, layouts concocted. Possible themes, dedications, and picture subjects occupied the imagination of the novice staff.

Last fall Barbara Henderson began scheduling and rescheduling pictures to satisfy insatiable editors. Susan Breger sent out questionnaires for information about teachers, while the senior editors compiled amazing statistics about their fellow seniors. Austin Lybrand tried to keep up with all sports activities at once. Bob Fjeld and Pat Martin mounted portraits, as Ellen Kay prodded her caption writers to get facts and names right.

Tempers grew frayed, questions less rational: "Is this really a picture of someone at Grimsley?" "Do you suppose Mr. Fleming would give us one more week?" "Where's my dummy?" "Does anyone know what became of the band caption?"

It must be obvious why this Whirligig staff lost 10 pounds of frustration on February 20. Maybe it was only the inspiration of last year's 16th straight All-American that had kept us going at all.

GHS Traffic Squad sacrifices class time for duty

CLOWNING and socializing are areas in which squad members excel.

Two minutes before every ending bell, a shuffling of books and across-the-room motioning were evident in many senior classrooms. Loyal to their duties, the GHS Traffic squad members reluctantly missed the final remarks of daily lectures to be at their posts well ahead of time.

Thirty senior boys of the Traffic Squad, performers at heart, diligently tended their posts, and assured decorum between class bells. Strains of deep, discordant "harmony" and various physical feats entertained students as they hurried from class to class.

Under the leadership of Tom Roos and the guiding hand of Mr. Glenn, the Traffic Squad successfully directed the student body through a complicated maze of Grimsley doors and stairways. By telling petrified sophomores where to go, controlling pushing crowds in torrential rains, and organizing fire drills, the Traffic Squad became an ingrained GHS tradition.

Library Council furnishes top district officers

The shuffle of circulation cards and the clicking of the time clock were familiar sounds to the thirty-three students who regularly donated an hour or more of their school day to keep the busy and vitally essential library running smoothly. The Library Council and its advisors, Miss Mildred Herring and Mrs. June Bleakley, performed efficiently, keeping books and periodicals organized and easily accessible to querying students.

There was also time for relaxation. In November the library assistants attended the District Conference of the North Carolina High School Library Association at Allen Jay High School. There Brenda Dick was elected president and Ricky Price vice president of this district organization. They were two of five delegates chosen to attend the State Convention in Asheville on April 22-23. Other delegates were President Janice Shew, Carolyn Lyday, and Toshi Okada.

contribute time and service in school business

To facilitate the smooth operation of GHS business, a large number of student assistants were necessary. These student volunteers performed odd jobs, ranging from answering an office telephone to lighting the stage for a play. In the busy "clinic," students kept track of pupil absences for IBM computation, and kept the telephone busy with calls to parents.

Main office assistants received visitors and acted as guides, conducting new students on a private campus tour. Book room volunteers sorted textbooks, and school store helpers vended useful items to all prospective buyers. In the guidance office pupils tabulated appointments and kept orderly college catalogue files. Auditorium lighting assistants contributed their interest and work to the effect of school plays. In fact, to every program held in the school auditorium, the stage crew contributed a wide variety of services.

21 GHS Bus Drivers are Greensboro's safest

The efficiency and caution of GHS bus drivers was especially evident this year, as they had the lowest accident rate among Greensboro's several school bus driving groups. Having surmounted the strict Highway Patrol training, with both written and practical tests, they coped with 2100 noisy "back-seat drivers" twice each day. The driver of each of the twenty-one buses traveled over six hundred miles every month, going to eight other schools as well as to Grimsley, and averaging sixty-seven riders per trip — all at a cost to taxpayers of only five cents per mile!

Grimsley's DE Club wins

Combining education and vocation required extra effort on the part of Distributive Education students, but they found rewards of the program sufficient motivation. With distributing and marketing their broad area of instruction, they worked in businesses from grocery stores to elite dress shops and sold services as well as goods. They also gained knowledge of office etiquette, methods of leadership, and civic responsibility.

The local DE Club was host to the convention of the Sixth District of DECA in December. They had workshops for officers, field trips, socials, and guest speakers as meeting themes. DE continued to receive countrywide Superior ratings and, in several issues of their DECA magazine, they achieved national acclaim.

A spring Fashion Show, sponsored by the Women's Shop, kept thirty-five Charioteers posture-conscious, fashion-wise, and somewhat breathless all year; but they managed to crowd much more into their hectic schedule. The GHS teacher's lounge sparkled after a thorough cleaning and new furnishings, procured under Charioteer guidance and with their financial aid. These girls also collected for other worthy causes. Floating blue-and-white streamers, which they tied on cars, proclaimed the day of a home athletic event. In addition to the time given to their streamers, Charioteers also cared for a large plot in the grove.

To keep tab on each other and their varied projects, the Charioteers met twice monthly, once for a relaxing dinner program and once strictly for business.

CIVITANS ENJOY the fruits of their efforts. Club members taking advantage of this opportunity are Souza, Beck, McNeill, Rinker, Ferris, Anthony, Kornegay.

make Civinettes and Civitans invaluable to GHS

VICTORY FLAG given by Junior Civitans flies high above officers Weikel, Kornegay, Advisor Caines, President McLean, McNairy, Davis, and Cheshire.

Gleaming trophies in the main hall and the gym owed their luster to energetic members of the Junior Civinettes. Teachers found their blackboards and chalk trays spotless on Monday mornings because these girls devoted after-school time on Friday to their care. The beauty-conscious Civinettes carefully nurtured, pruned, and weeded their rose garden, sacrificing many Saturday mornings for this chore. An autumn fruitcake sale filled the club treasury. Civinettes learned respect for ideas and ideals of others, as they attended together a church service of a different denomination each month.

The victory flag, football field goal-post banner, and student handbook were all contributions of the GHS Junior Civitans. The cheerleaders' stand with its "Big G" was also a donation of the Civitans. Their genuine school spirit was evident as they presented the Ben L. Smith Student-Teacher Award, and as they issued basketball schedules to the student body. The Civitan "Beat Page" banner, new this year, will see many seasons as each year's scores are recorded on its back. In Hong Kong, the Civitans' "adopted son" valued financial and moral support from his GHS "fathers."

SCHOOL SPIRITED Civitans maintain the banner through which the football team runs before a game. The boys present are Levy, Hale, R. Smith, Hinson, Browder, Thomas. On the gold posts are Pfaff and Pait.

Jr. Exchange again awards attendance plaque

EXCHANGE MEMBERS inspect their area for "School Beautiful." They are A. Smith, Matthews, Harrison, Striegel, Nathan, Millikan, Dees, D. Miles, J. Miles.

PLANNING the Exchange Club's doughnut sale are Advisor Mr. Snider and Seawell.

With three senior superlatives selected from their membership, the Junior Exchange Club felt it had one more reason to claim a successful year. Aided by faculty advisor Mr. Snider, and Mr. Marcus Deal of the sponsoring Greensboro Exchange Club, these boys excelled in school and community spirit. They gave a plaque to the homeroom with the best attendance at the Grimsley-Page football game, and contributed to the beautification of the area behind the girls' gym. Money was raised by the two successful door-to-door doughnut sales. Wednesday night meetings were regularly held at the Libby Hill and Mayfair Restaurants. The social highlight of the club year was the November hayride on Stagecoach Trail.

OFFICERS in front of Freedom Shrine the club presented to the school last year are President Roos, Stanton, Lybrand, and Matthews.

Winning honors each year in the city-wide fund raising drives was routine with the Junior Exchangettes, one of the newer service clubs at GHS. This year, moreover, the girls of this club further distinguished themselves by collecting more money for the Muscular Dystrophy drive than any other unit had ever gathered.

This year the Junior Exchangettes launched a new money-making campaign selling Whirlie Booster buttons. They donated generously to the teachers' fund for supplementary materials, and at Christmas they contributed food and gifts to a needy family and gave a party for handicapped children.

Hi-Y boys gather clothing for Viet Nam needy

Working with a High Point College fraternity, the enthusiastic Philomathian Hi-Y boys helped gather clothing for distribution by American servicemen. In December the Hi-Y clothing was sent to Raleigh, packed, and mailed to Viet Nam.

The annual North Carolina Convention of Hi-Y clubs, held in Greensboro during November, was attended by one hundred and ninety boys, with the local organization as host.

Masses of candy mints were circulated on campus last fall, sold by Hi-Y members to raise money for their projects. School service for the club was sweeping the parking lot on Saturday morning.

Interact Club presents American flag to GHS

SHOWN displaying the flag their club presented to GHS are Interact officers President Latham, Sikes, Voight, Reidenbach, Bolton, and Carter.

More than thirty Interact "green thumbs" relandscaped the Westover Terrace-Benjamin Parkway campus corner. Grass and shrubbery flourished in the previously weeded area. This planting task continued work begun last year, when the club built a brick retaining wall at the same corner. The Interact club also presented a new American flag to the school. The service club bulletin boards in the main hall were initiated and sponsored by the Interact club. The boys collected money for several charitable organizations.

In February, delegates from the Grimsley Interact organization attended a District Convention in Concord, N. C. There, Doug Crayton was elected district Governor of Interact clubs.

school spirit throughout stadium

The Buddy System and the timeless Whirlwbird were trademarks of two of Grimsley's companion clubs, the Jaycees and the Jaycettes. The Jaycees promoted school spirit with their "Name the Whirlwbird" Contest. They constructed a new manger scene on the front lawn at Christmas, and presented the Roger Hobbs trophy to an outstanding senior on Awards Day.

The Jaycettes distributed bags of confetti to enthusiasts at home football games. They increased the volume of basketball cheers by filling the stands with megaphones. For collecting the most money during the tuberculosis drive, the Jaycettes received $25. Both clubs enjoyed assisting the Greensboro Jaycees at the GGO.

JAYCEES support their club's activities by working in Hamilton Lakes Park. On ground: Covington, Peer, McMahan. In tree: Craven, Oakley, Bray, Harwood.

Key Club gives helpful directions in many ways

The ordeal of sweeping debris from the stadium each fall Saturday belongs to the Key Club. GHS' oldest service club also aided students and faculty with its 18th invaluable Key Club Directory. The club maintained an illuminated stadium sign and a front lawn bulletin board, reminding students and others of GHS activities. Keeping up the cross country course was another Key Club service. The boys provided free rosters at all home basketball games and, cooperating with a men's club, they sold programs at the 4-A tournament.

SWEEPING the stadium during football season requires the help of all Key Club members. Doing the work this week are Long, Piephoff, Perry, Dewey, Garvin, Booth, Fahey, Grubb, Coble, Desper, and Norton.

KEY CLUB OFFICERS, standing in front of sign given by the club to GHS, are President Neese, Gingher, Desper, Fjeld, and Reed.

O. Henry Juniors instigate "Whirling Boots"

The prancing Whirling Boots, brand new tradition at GHS, were sponsored by O. Henry Juniors. This service club employed the instructor, Mrs. Glass, and handled most of the expenses of this colorful group. The club also took care of three planters in the "grove."

O. Henry Juniors participated in charity drives, winning acclaim by collecting more than any other city unit in the tuberculosis drive. Sally English received a prize as highest single collector.

The club's annual bridge benefit was a real success, and a mid-February slumber party and new-member initiation will long be pleasantly remembered.

Because the Seniorette organization was relatively new, members substituted enthusiasm for tradition in their activities. Morganton's "Gold Door" was extensively supported by the girls. The Seniorettes tirelessly gathered gifts so that each institutionalized child might pick something from that enchanted room, maintained by North Carolina Women's Clubs. Seniorettes also worked with the Council House Day Care Center for underprivileged children, and collected for various fund-raising drives. At a February assembly they presented a new North Carolina flag to GHS. Hay rides and parties in "mixed company" completed a successful year for these girls.

Sub-Juniors give money and time to help needy

Gathering clothing for the needy, filling stockings for the Empty Stocking fund at Christmas, and stuffing animals for the steamship Hope were but a few of the helpful activities of the busy Sub-Junior Woman's Club this year. Although the Sub-Juniors are a recent addition to the Grimsley service club roster, the girls contributed time and energy to many worthwhile city money-raising drives.

Proceeds from a successful candy sale were used for a contribution to the GHS Home Economics Department. An autumn dinner meeting honored new members with bouquets and welcoming applause.

Monogram members make money marketing mums

The Monogram Club, led by President Neal Craven, once again was an active force in encouraging Grimsley students to support their athletes. Composed of over fifty varsity athletes who had earned a letter in at least one sport, the club was advised by Mr. Bob Sawyer.

The monogram wearers continued what is fast becoming a GHS tradition — the sale of "mums" for corsages to wear at the Homecoming game and open house afterward. They also spent much time and energy maintaining and repairing the tennis courts and clearing the surrounding area of underbrush.

MIKE HIPPS is brought down as he churns for yardage.

For the first time since 1961, the Whirlies waltzed their way to a 4-A play-off game in football. The success of the 1965 Whirlies can be attributed to a two-pronged attack: the accurate throwing arm of junior quarterback Mike Hipps, and the skillful running of several light, but fleetfooted backs, notably Dean Brewer, Tommy Shoemaker, and John Perry.

In the season's opener, Grimsley and Raleigh Broughton fumbled their respective ways to a 13-13 tie. The Whirlies' trouble in dragging down the big Broughton backs was equaled only by Raleigh's trouble in catching the fleetfooted Whirls.

A tough Whirlie defense held favored Asheboro away from the goal line as sophomore Jim Mitchell snatched a punt for a 35-yard touchdown-return in the second game of the season. The next week, the favored but injury-stricken Whirlies were out-run by speedy Asheville backs on a rain-soaked field.

Whirlies post good record despite injuries

In their fourth game the Whirls battled a tough team from East Forsyth to a hard-won 7-0 victory. The next week, Grimsley and Burlington sloshed through a torrential downpour to a 6-6 tie.

Crosstown rival Page surprised Grimsley fans as they edged the Whirlies 13-12. The Whirlies were weakened by several injuries to key players, but the substitutes played a spirited game.

Three touchdown passes by Mike Hipps and a 2 yard run by Dean Brewer gave the Whirlies a 27-7 victory over the West Forsyth Vikings. The next week the Whirls scored three touchdowns in the second half to overcome a 7-6 lead by the Bison from High Point.

Grimsley claimed their fifth victory as the Smith Eagles were blanked in the homecoming game. The next game with W-S Reynolds ended in the regular season on a high note as the Whirls defeated the Black Demons for the first time in three years.

In the playoff with Durham that followed, the Whirlies pushed to a 19-13 halftime lead, but lost it and the game, as both the offense and defense lost their lucky combinations in the second half play.

The Junior Varsity Football Team won its first three games and its last one, but in between were sandwiched three losses and two scoreless ties. Husky quarterback Rig Dees led the offense with consistent passes and occasional runs. Small, speedy backs — especially Jim Powell, Bill Kornegay, and John Perry — provided the ball-carrying power. The mid-season loss of Perry to the varsity was a severe blow to the team. Leading the Whirlie defense was end Steve Desper.

Cagers lose to Page in conference tournament

Even after an admirable 14-7 record, the Whirlie cagers failed to win their almost traditional tournament berth. Four Whirls hit double figures to defeat East Forsyth in first-round conference action. Then the semifinals saw the Whirlies and Page Pirates tied 38-38 at the end of regulation play, but seven free throws cleared the way for a Pirate victory.

Of the starting lineup — seniors John McNairy, Tom Roos, and Beaver Peer, and juniors Joe Howard and Mike Hipps — McNairy and Howard were consistent scorers. Among top reserves were Scott Reed, Jack Whitley, Bruce Piephoff, Tim Browder.

December saw two losses to state champion Fayetteville, wins over Enloe, Broughton, and Asheboro. Then East Forsyth fell to the Whirls in a clumsy game. Next Grimsley came from 9 points behind Burlington at the half to squeak by with a 2-point margin. Four days later a close game in a packed Page gym ended in a Whirlie victory. An easy victory over Parkland followed.

Injured McNairy and Roos missed the loss to Smith but returned to hit 26 points in the Reynolds game. Then a last-second foul changed a tie-game into a bitter defeat by Burlington. Next came a painful rout by Page and a win over High Point. The reserves saw action in an easy victory over Parkland, but it was followed by a loss to recently defeated High Point. The regular season ended with victories over Smith and Reynolds.

The Whirlie tank team showed amazing depth as it swept the 1966 state meet at UNC-CH, outdistancing its nearest opponent by 69 points. Alan Bernard won the 200 and 400-yard freestyle events; Bill Dewey won the backstroke and set a new record in winning the individual medley. Other outstanding swimmers, several of whom set records during the season, included Bill Lindley, Tom Acree, Neal Craven, and Drew Finn.

1965 Baseball team makes conference play-offs

The Whirlie baseball team seemed headed toward a repeat of 1964's state championship until a conference play-off with the High Point Bison brought defeat. This was a disappointing end to an otherwise fine season, in which the Whirlies had an overall 11-5 record. High Point's 5-4 play-off victory was especially painful to the Whirlies, who, the day before, had rallied against a Winston-Salem Gray lead of 10-1 to defeat the hounds by 11-10. These conference results had been foreshadowed earlier in the season, when the Whirls trounced previously unbeaten Gray after being themselves caught in a Bison stampede.

The Whirlies waltzed to an easy 7-1 victory over the across-town rivals from Page in early play. This enhanced the shock of a later season 5-2 loss to the same team.

Whirlie golfers wound up a victorious 1965 season by sweeping both conference and state titles for an unprecedented third consecutive year. In addition, Snipes waltzed to an easy 22-stroke victory in claiming the conference individual crown.

Harriers are first in conference, seventh in state

FOUR TOP Whirlie harriers take advantage of an exhilerating October day to train for an important meet.

The cross-country team, improving each year, had an excellent 1965 season. Long-strided Whirlies took first place in the Central 4-A Conference and seventh place in state action. Led by fleet-footed Jerry Mitchell, Wayne Van Dyke, and Curtis Weaver, who were the three top finishers for the Whirls, the harriers defeated Greensboro Page, Winston-Salem Reynolds, and West Forsyth, falling only to Chapel Hill. With Weaver and Mitchell returning, and with many other up-and-coming runners, there was good reason to predict an even better record for 1966.

1965 Whirlie Trackmen place third in conference

The 1965 track team, sparked by several individual standouts, captured fourth place in the Central Sectional meet and third place in the Central 4-A meet. Leading the team was Bob Albright, who sped to first places in both meets and set a new sectional record of 2:01.6.

Other Whirlies starred in the Central 4-A meet. Fred Allen and John Bradley took first in the pole vault and discus, respectively. Shot-putter Tom Roos, hurdler Joe Howard, and the 880 and mile relay teams all posted very close seconds.

GAA gives girls opportunities for competition

GAA OFFICERS: President Transou, Mitchell, Advisor Mrs. Yates, Quick, Smith, Advisor Mrs. Lambert, Gibson, Wilson, Mullen, Tillman.

The Girls Athletic Association continued to provide Grimsley's athletically inclined girls with chances to compete. Partcipation in one sport during the year qualified a girl for membership. Rivalry with speedball, basketball, volleyball, and track teams from twelve other schools highlighted the year. As its project, the GAA once again sold GHS sweatshirts. The girls were advised by Mrs. Lambert and Mrs. Yates.

Girls use boys' gym while their own is remodeled

GIRLS' basketball team warms up for a big game.

WARM-UP game in boys' phys. ed. looks more like organized mayhem.

The usual physical education regimen—football, soccer, basketball, wrestling, and softball for boys, and tennis, speedball, tumbling, and dancing for girls—was broken in 1965 by major renovations to the girls' gym. Although the "two-week" changes stretched on for several months, no complaints were heard about the necessity of sharing the boys' gym.

ON THE GO

AS SUPERINTENDENT of the Greensboro City Schools, Mr. P. J. Weaver must make wise decisions for our safety and welfare.

For eight weeks last summer, the school board sponsored "Project Headstart" for underprivileged preschool children. Also during the summer, the board changed the regulations governing the distribution of students to schools. Fall 1965 was the first time a student could choose the school he preferred to attend, regardless of its location.

This year the school board has made several improvements at Grimsley. They renovated the girls' gymnasium, enlarged the bus parking lot, added two driveways to the students' parking lot, cleared areas for two new playing fields, and added the sidewalk between the Home Economics building and the cafeteria.

BOARD OF EDUCATION and Administrators of Greensboro Public Schools are, seated: Mr. E. F. Lucas Jr., Mrs. Lessie E. Hoyle, Mr. Richard K. Hunter, Mr. Richard M. Wilson, Dr. George H. Evans. Standing: Mr. H. C. Allison, Superintendent Philip J. Weaver, Mr. R. Thorpe Jones, Attorney R. F. Moseley. Not pictured: Mr. G. E. Norman Jr., and Mr. A. S. Lineberry. Board members volunteer many hours of their time to serve the Greensboro schools.

PTSA continues work on successful projects

PTSA BOARD at a regular luncheon meeting are, seated: Mrs. A. S. Lineberry, Mrs. E. L. Carroll Jr., Mrs. R. M. Smith, Mrs. R. C. Kornegay Jr., Mrs. J. D. Long Jr., J. P. Carpenter Jr., Mrs. W. P. Byrd, M. Smith, Holsenbeck, Richbourg, and M. N. Smith. Standing: Mr. William Folk Jr., Mrs. Mary Alice Moody, Miss Dixie Poe Huske, Mrs. Daphne Stanton, Mrs. M. G. Morris, Mrs. Garland B. Murray, Mrs. A. G. Israel, Mr. W. I. English, Mrs. J. R. Pringle, Mrs. E. M. Lashley, Mrs. H. B. Clements, President Garland B. Murray, Cumbie, McNairy, Blackwood, Principal A. P. Routh, Weikel, Roos, and Hornig. Not pictured: Mr. D. W. Maddox Jr., Mr. W. D. Harris, Mrs. F. D. Thompson, Mrs. A. S. Wilkinson, Mrs. J. L. Giles, Mrs. J. L. Murray, and Mrs. Howard Adair.

Soon after school opened last fall, an all-out membership drive for the Parent-Teacher-Student Association was on. In a race among homerooms for the largest membership, students urged their parents to join and with great success, for this year's PTSA had a total of 1,626 members.

The PTSA performed many services for Grimsley this year. It contributed money to School Beautiful as well as having a landscape architect draw plans for continual improvement. Also, the PTSA gave GHS new risers for the choir and considerable financial help to YRC activities, the library, Student Council, and Whirligig.

Every phase of Grimsley's school life had representatives on the PTSA executive board, which met every third Wednesday each month and planned many and varied PTSA activities.

PRESIDENT Murray and his wife, shown at the Faculty Tea for seniors, serve GHS at many functions.

PTSA BOARD OFFICERS are Treasurer D. W. Maddox Jr., Vice President Mrs. R. M. Smith, Secretary Mrs. J. D. Long, and President Garland B. Murray.

Indispensable A. P. Routh acts as guiding light

MR. A. P. ROUTH has been Grimsley's admired and respected principal since 1933.

After being principal of one school for thirty-three years, Mr. Routh is sure to have earned an envied reputation among students, faculty, and other principals. He is kind, but determined. With complete control over every situation, Mr. Routh repeatedly uses excellent judgment.

Mr. Routh is not merely the leading figure of GHS, but he is an outstanding leader among other principals and adults as well. He and Mrs. Routh are always welcome chaperons at school functions, and on many occasions he participates in service club activities. GHS's outstanding record can be attributed largely to the dynamic force that is Mr. Routh.

EVEN WITH his busy schedule, Mr. Routh finds time to relax, as at the Senior Tea with Mrs. Routh.

MRS. COLTRANE, Mr. Routh's secretary, works alongside our principal to see that school business runs smoothly.

FACULTY CLUB OFFICERS are Miss Amy Moore, Mr. Whittemore, and (standing) President Miss Huske.

MR. R. L. GLENN, popular assistant principal, is appreciated by every GHS student and teacher.

MRS. DAPHNE STANTON is the able Dean of Students.

GHS Faculty is an organized unit

As assistant principal, Mr. Glenn inspires friendship, trust, and admiration in students and faculty alike. Students who come to Mr. Glenn for counsel invariably find guidance and understanding.

Issuing band-aids and checking attendance, are just two of many duties assigned to Mrs. Stanton. Helpful, swift, and efficient, she performs her responsibilities with a smile.

The faculty and its officers combine enthusiasm and experience to project their knowledge. Stimulating classroom discussions are the result of extensive preparation on the part of the teachers.

ENDLESS DUTIES and countless decisions are a part of each school day for Mrs. Stanton and Mr. Glenn.

Being a Sophomore

student government, and STUDIES!

As the summer of 1965 came to an end, another mass of wide-eyed, giggling, but terrified sophomores crowded into the halls of Grimsley. The old elevator, third floor, and basement jokes were tried on us again and again — but without success.

Sophomore elections were held for a frantic two weeks, with fifty candidates seeking office. Handbills and posters littered the campus as hopeful politicians worked to win. Election day ended the excitement, and the results were accepted with varied emotions.

As the school year progressed, we plotted against Julius, memorized theorems—all the while thinking about the helpless frog butchered in biology.

With so many new experiences behind us, we feel ready to take our place next year as Juniors.

AFTER EXPLORING the sprawling campus, Sophomores and their "buddies" recuperate at an Open House.

IN MEMORIAM

DAVID REED HARDING

JUNE 16, 1950–NOVEMBER 27, 1965

ADVISOR LEDFORD works closely with juniors in class projects.

TALENT AND TRAINING enable juniors to achieve excellence.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS are (from the top) President Blackwood, Souza, Murray, and Landsperger.

Midclassmen move on with memories of engaging class play, inspiring assembly, 490 captivating stories

The new school year 1965-66 was a year of change, and we, as Juniors, discovered ourselves no longer in a bustling, harassed crowd of novices but in a wiser, more experienced class. Familiar pleas of "Won't you please buy just one ticket?" introduced to customers the feverishly planned class play. "Tom Sawyer," performed twice before good crowds, raised more than the required amount to pay for our section in this Whirligig.

As the year wore on, we became more adept in the art of being Juniors. After presenting the annual Thanksgiving program and then sweating over those gruelling PSAT's, we still found time to sail through Moby Dick and cheer at school games. Inscribed bands of gold enveloping our aching fingers, each of us composed that traditional class masterpiece, the Junior short story.

These accomplishments behind and aspirations ahead, we look forward confidently to leading GHS next year as the senior class.

A JUNIOR gazes into her class ring, long-sought, much-esteemed symbol of pride and devotion to GHS.

COMBINED EFFORTS of an outstanding cast, director, and stage crew make "Tom Sawyer" an unforgettable production.

Marshals represent Junior service to Grimsley

MARSHALS, headed by Lynn Rose, are supervised by Advisors Parker and Lahr (not shown).

If one were to enter the Grimsley auditorium on a concert night, he would assuredly be greeted by a smiling student inquiring, "Would you like a program?" or "May I help you find a seat?" These essential assistants comprised a group of twenty-eight elected Junior Marshals, whose numerous tasks included ushering, ticket collecting, and handing out programs.

The Marshals were characterized by promptness, courtesy, never-failing service. Girls in white dresses with gloves and boys in dark suits wore sashes of blue-and-white that Marshals have donned since their innovation. By serving at all school functions, they earned a vital and coveted position at GHS.

Class of '66

boasts

many able leaders

and proud

accomplishments

JUST AN ADJUSTMENT of a cap makes these two Seniors ready for graduation.

As Seniors, the class of '66, we dwell in two worlds —one of Gemini flights, politics, and war, the other, more immediate one, of Grimsley Senior High School. Since our lives have revolved around GHS, one of our main concerns was for the school itself. Through service club projects and other community activities, we assumed the responsibility of seeing that our school maintained its prominent standing throughout not only the surrounding area, but also in the state and nation. The service club members will always have a feeling of helping when they recall the many drives they collected for, rain or shine.

For the past three years, our efforts in improving the campus grounds have been rewarded by our being able to retire the School Beautiful Cup and to contribute to the city beautification program. Various clinics and trips undertaken by the musical organizations have denoted high quality in performance while providing valuable opportunities. Our long hours of practice and years of training in various fields have enabled us to receive recognition for Grimsley and ourselves.

IMPORTED from Japan and Belgium, Toshi Okada and Danny Dralans enjoy becoming acquainted with Grimsley and with each other.

'65 Juniors assume additional responsibilities

In order to obtain more than the initial knowledge required for graduation, we combined our individual talents into an organization. This organization—the class of '66—planned, directed, and acted in its Junior Class Play, Cheaper by the Dozen. Our delightful and thought-provoking Christmas Pageant, A Christmas Carol, proved to be an overwhelming success. In our berth of Seniors, we enjoyed the privileges of early registration, leaving for assembly before the Juniors and Sophomores, and just the simple status of being "on top." As we supported our team at games, attended open houses, enjoyed the distinction and splendor of Mid-Winter's and the Prom, and as we presented our Class Day program, we brought to mind our most memorable and final thoughts of GHS.

NATIONAL MERIT SEMIFINALIST — Seated: Lashley, Morrah, Sharp, Scott, Speas. Standing: Horney, Long, Rouse, Matthews, Joslin, McCall, Pearce, Smith. Other semifinalists are Anne Smith, spending this year in Belgium, and Anne Parish.

to become '66 Seniors

CHOSEN from GHS for the 1965 Governor's School were Swart, Speas, Matthews, Hoyman, and Kay. Absent from picture: Pyron.

But life is not the past. Future plans awaken us and make us press ever ahead with a quickening step. We will arrive ready for college or trained for a vocation. Our teachers, our counselors, the assembly speakers have all tried to prepare, and to sometimes warn us of that unfamiliar, perplexing, but rewarding world. Yet all of us want to fulfill the ideals held in our minds, dreams that we hope will become an important and useful portion of the approaching world. Seeming prepared, we, the Seniors of GHS are ready. . . . Our aims are real, our spirits are high, as we enter the world of adulthood.

A LAST GAME, last assembly, last class — these go sometimes unnoticed until that final day when we walk away for the last time.

Dear Sponsors,

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and gratitude to you, the merchants and business men of Greensboro and surrounding areas, for your generous response to Operation Scholastic Appreciation. We are aware that this program was new this year, yet you still supported us faithfully. Even with the many hours of work the staff contributed, we could not have published our yearbook without your financial assistance.

Thank you,
The 1966 Whirligig Staff
